

SOLVE YOUR WEB PROBLEMS ONCE AND FOR ALL

Morello Police Site Pack

First stop for information

The average website pales in comparison to the model of excellence it could be using Morello Police Site Pack. Too often site visitors are confronted by confusing layout and difficult routes to finding information, making it the last port of call for enquiries.

Built on years of experience driving excellent public sector websites, Morello has the expertise to help you achieve some genuine benefits from your site.

'Out of the Box'

Morello understands the constraints of both budget and time on the modern police force. How can you deliver a solution which integrates with existing technology systems in double quick time without huge financial or resource costs? Rely on us.

The Police Site Pack is a "ready to roll", flexible solution. It combines with Morello's content management application to ensure you meet your delivery targets on time and in budget.

Morello Police Site Pack offers you immediate results. Simply add your own content and site branding to be up and running in a little as 10 days. No need to worry about how our solution fits with your infrastructure, Morello provides multiple mechanisms to integrate information from all platforms.

Morello also offers Police Site Pack with built-in Knowledge Management functionality so organizations can implement a 'smarter' site, with automatic classification of content and thesaurus based searching.

Compliance

Compliance has rapidly become the buzz word for all web applications. As with all public sector offices, the police forces across Britain are subject to comply with compliance regulations including the Data Protection Act and Freedom of Information Act.

Rather than treating these as disparate problems with separate solutions, Morello creates a stronghold for data, a platform from which it is accessible. Morello understands that the mechanisms of database storage are essential for the fundamental gathering and collation of unstructured data. Storing information in this way attributes it some value. In doing this Morello delivers a solution which enables information to be intelligently searched and audited. It frees information to be managed through its lifecycle whilst ensuring it can be delivered in any way desired, to multiple channels.

Providing access to information has inherent risks. The Morello information lifecycle management offers control for the individual data creation and publication.

Integrate

Mediasurface understands that all organizations have to cover many different elements within IT strategy and portfolio. To help you work more efficiently, Morello integrates with other systems, interfaces and API's to ensure that content can be extracted from and imported into your new Web Content Management system.

Morello supports all relevant technical standards, including XHTML, CSS2, XML, JMS, JDBC, JMX, VBA, .NET, WSDL and SOAP.

Agility

Successful web projects are always delivered fast. Morello focuses on maximizing the content management functionality out of the box. Simply put, we put more on the CD, which means your projects start further down the track (i.e. nearer the finish). Our success stories record roll-outs in days not months.

Morello is flexible. We understand that things will change and the platform upon which your Intranet is built has to be flexible enough to accommodate new business requirements, new technologies, new working practices, new ways of sharing and so forth. Our scalable, proven technology is designed to be as agile as your business.
